President Biden signs Postal Reform into law

It's official.

Just moments ago, President Biden signed the Postal Service Reform Act into law.

We've said it before, and we'll say it again.

This is the greatest legislative victory for supporters of the public Postal Service in a generation – and it's all because of you.

With the passage of this historic act, the USPS will finally be placed on a path towards financial stability with the repeal of the onerous and financially debilitating pre-funding mandate.

There are many more fights ahead – to defend and expand the public Postal Service which is so precious to every community in America.

But today, let us celebrate this victory, and remember the lesson at the heart of our campaign to defend the USPS. Everything we have, everything we've won, and everything we hope to win, depends upon one thing:

Solidarity.

Acting alone, we are powerless in the face of our opponents – the privatizers with their mountains of cash and their armies of lobbyists and lawyers are frighteningly powerful. No single one of us can defeat them alone.

But when we stand together – when thousands upon thousands of us each do our small part and take collective action – that is a force which can achieve anything.
